why this?

Every year, billions of dollars are spent in the black market allowing desperate individuals to escape for a better life. In our future, the government enables this as a registered corporation, as it contribute huge sums to taxes.

Our project emphasizes the reality of racial profiling and discrimination faced by migrants and refugees currently. The exposure of one's personal attributes, then labelled with a value, explicitly illustrates the privilege constructed through race, religion, etc. Even in critical times of humanity, money and social ideologies still remain a priority.
